This was a fast paced novel, full of the suspense and sweet romance that I've come to enjoy from this mother/daughter writing team. Liam and Maurie have been best friends for years, not to mention business partners. Both of them have feelings for the other but they of course don't want to jeopardize their relationship by stepping into the territory of dating and loving each other. Yet unforeseen forces have gathered all around them and force them to try to outsmart and stay ahead of the one person nobody suspected of being bad, Maurie's fiancé. Can Liam convince her that she isn't just a rebound? Can Maurie allow her heart to be hurt again when everything is pointing at Liam's unreliability in relationships? How far will anyone go to protect and cover their biggest secrets? Everyone has something to hide and something to uncover? Who will reveal it all first and who will come out victor? Gun chases, sandy beaches, sailing, paintings, marshmallows, broken glass, missing sunglasses, bubba gump trivia, sweet kisses, false identities, cover ups, pounding hearts, a wedding, ice cream and a movie and so much more is within this page turner. This is a great clean read I'd recommend for anyone who needs a quick read with suspense and spice. The setting and artwork makes the story great and easy to get sucked into. Happy Reading!!!

This was a clean romantic suspense novel. I enjoyed it, although certain aspects of the story bothered me. Some of the story felt rushed, while other parts were sweet and flowed well. I also felt that a little bit more explanation was needed for some instances. The heroine in the story bothered me with her stubborn mistrust and how she kept insisting she was right, when we as readers all know she is wrong. I guess I felt like her mistrust wasn't warranted, as she kept insisting she knew our hero insecure and out, but yet wouldn't believe him when he told her things about the man she was dating.

Well, I'm 3/4 of the way through this book and am wondering how in the world did it get classified under Christian Mystery & Suspense. Yes, it is certainly mystery & suspense, but Christian? I have yet to run across anything Christian about it. No, it doesn't use foul and offensive language nor are there sex scenes presented at every turn, but still there is no mention, thus far, of any type of personal relationship with Jesus. (Oh, I get it, it's a mystery as to why it's under Christian Mystery and Suspense!!!) Thankfully, it wasn't expensive or I would have been sorely disappointed paying for something so misclassified. I also am having a bit of a problem with the story as presented. Really??? Seems a bit unbelievable. Not to mention the fact I want to shake the teeth right out of Maurie. She is just plain annoying. I wonder if she has any ability to think things through. While I'm okay with the book as written, I don't think I will pursue any other writings by the authors.

Liam is getting ready to marry Dani when he realizes he's in love with his business partner Maurie. Maurie accepts Coopers wedding proposal when she realizes that she's going to lose Liam to another woman. Nothing is turning out as planned, and Liam has to prove that Cooper's a crook. It's gonna be a rocky road to this HEA.

Predictable with not much excitement

There was a lot of kissing, in order to realize they like each other. Maurie and Liam were pretty clueless. You would think that best friends would trust each other and know each other... The fact that she said yes bothered me. She knew she loved Liam. Blech! Hurray for mostly happy endings!

Such a charming read! I loved the suspense, the well-rounded characters, and the excitement of seeing how it all played out. Thank you, Jennifer, for writing a read that was both clean and romantic. Can't wait to read some of your other books!

I thought this story was well-written. I did enjoy Liam and Maurie - they seemed to be realistic as did all of the characters (even those I didn't like much).
