Ornament Is Crime: Modernist Architecture

Synopsis

An unprecedented homage to modernist architecture from the 1920s up to the present day. Ornament Is Crime is a celebration and a thought-provoking reappraisal of modernist architecture. The book proposes that modernism need no longer be confined by traditional definitions, and can be seen in both the iconic works of the modernist canon by Le Corbusier, Mies van der Rohe, and Walter Gropius, as well as in the work of some of the best contemporary architects of the twenty-first century. This book is a visual manifesto and a celebration of the most important architectural movement in modern history.

Customer Reviews

"Ornament is Crime journeys between the decades to liberate Modernism from its traditional definitions and proposes its continuing presence in the in the work of 21st century architects... [With] elegant spreads and striking examples... An intriguing manifesto... The use of quotes from cultural figures as diverse as Leonard Cohen and Kazimir Malevich here reframes Modernism as a timeless dialogue."
•Aesthetica "A gorgeous collection of black-and-white photographs of homes by modern masters and contemporary architects."
•Curbed "Beautifully illustrated throughout, this thought-provoking compendium invites you to discover modernism's journey from the 1920s to the present day... Inspiring... Ornament is Crime is also interspersed with classic song lyrics, literary excerpts and insightful quotes [...] adding depth and context to the featured images."
•CreativeBoom.com "Demonstrate[s] how the tenets of modernism remain relevant today... [A] book for fans of modern architecture looking for a survey of projects that exemplify the elite execution of this seemingly evergreen architectural ideology." MrPorter.com"Looking pretty essential is Ornament is Crime... Substantial too. There's more to it than just being a reference guide. The book also features Matt Gibberd's personal story surrounding the establishment of The Modern House estate agency, as well as classic song lyrics, literary excerpts and insightful quotes from some of the leading figures of modernist architecture."

Wowhaus.co.uk"Feeling the love for Le Corbusier, mad for Mies van der Rohe? Then you may well want to get your Modernism-loving mitts on the latest tome from those savvy Modern House lads Albert Hill and Matt Gibberd... Peppered with quotes from everyone from Leonard Cohen to Russian artist and theorist Kasimir Malevich, the book is a passionate Modernist manifesto from two people who really know their Villa Savoye from their

Brno." InsideModernism.co.uk"Compiles the most influential works of Modernism ever constructed... A remarkable collection of buildings under a renewed Loos-ian heading... A truly global selection of striking modern homes... An impressive survey, certain to surprise even the well-versed with its thoughtful juxtapositions and inclusive gaze... In compiling their collection, the authors also made two surprising decisions that sets the project apart from most coffee table tomes. Eschewing chronology, they consistently place buildings from different places and times together on the same page, eliciting unexpected connections and formal dialogues." AnOtherMag.com"A much-needed re-evaluation of Modernist architecture... Breathing life into Modernist work past and present, reflecting on its ideals and infused with a furious aversion to the perils of unnecessary ornament... [An] impressive volume." Ham & High (Hampstead & Highgate Express)"Opens up the modernist canon to include both contemporary buildings and lesser-known examples from around the world... Asks what modernism means today..." Port-magazine.com"If you're a fan of modernist architecture, you'll love new Phaidon book, Ornament is Crime. Showcasing the finest examples of this innovative architectural style, it covers everything from Le Corbusier and Mies van der Rohe icons, to contemporary designs by Tadao Ando and John Pawson." TheGuardian.com"Spectacular... Beautifully illustrated... [A] thought provoking compendium." New Design"A vivid and unpedantic presentation of modernist houses with a fresh wind blowing among them." Interior Design

Matt Gibberd is a Founding Director of The Modern House, a London-based property company selling Britain's finest design-led housing. Matt has an MA in History & Art History from the University of Edinburgh. He comes from a family of architects, and is the grandson of the celebrated Modern Movement architect Sir Frederick Gibberd. Matt has overseen the sale of some of the capital's most iconic property, including buildings designed by John Pawson, David Adjaye and Maxwell Fry. Formerly a Senior Editor at The World of Interiors magazine, he has written on architecture, art and design for The Telegraph, GQ Style and Acne Paper, and contributed to numerous books. Albert Hill is a Founding Director of The Modern House, a London-based property company selling Britain's finest design-led housing. He graduated from the University of Bristol with a BA in Art History. Pursuing his passion for the crossover between architecture and commerce, he came up with the idea for The Modern House and founded the company in 2005. Albert has an unrivalled knowledge of the UK's modern houses. Previously, Albert was the Design Editor at Wallpaper* under founding editor Tyler Brule, and has written for The Guardian, The Times and The Independent. He has also contributed to a number of books, and has commented on architecture and property on both TV and radio.

A book of endless black and white photographs ... all exterior shots with very limited text. If you like to browse a book of residential architecture .. then this is a book for you. The authors have compiled every house you have thought about, and many obscure ones as well. However, if you're hoping for a more detailed account of WHY showing plans, sections, interiors and more ... then look elsewhere.
