The Woman Who Mapped Labrador: The Life And Expedition Diary Of Mina Hubbard

Synopsis

In 1905 Mina Benson Hubbard became the first white woman to cross Labrador, completing the expedition that had led to her husband's death. The Woman Who Mapped Labrador makes available for the first time the unguarded and personal diary that was the basis for her famous book, A Woman's Way Through Unknown Labrador. Three specialists have combined their expertise to enhance the richness of this original source. Roberta Buchanan's annotation of Hubbard's expedition diary makes it accessible to contemporary readers. Anne Hart's biography illuminates an Edwardian woman's transformation from teacher, nurse, and devoted wife to courageous explorer and social activist. Bryan Greene's discussion of Hubbard's navigational, cartographic, and topographical techniques shows her to have been a serious explorer. His nineteen newly drawn maps make it possible to follow her journey in detail. In her diary Hubbard's full enthusiasm for the Labrador wilderness shines through her descriptions of the great caribou migration, the Montagnais/Naskapi Indians (Innu), and life at a Hudson's Bay post. She also reveals in frank detail the difficulties of asserting her authority as a female expedition leader and her satisfaction at beating out her male rival, Dillon Wallace.

Customer Reviews

"The authors seamlessly weave together equally compelling elements so that the book becomes greater than the sum of its parts and a model for interdisciplinary cooperation." Carolyn Podruchny, history, York University
"Compared to previous books, this is a more human document with Hubbard's enthusiasm given full rein and never a moment of boredom." Gwyneth Hoyle, co-author of Canoeing North into the Unknown: A Record of River Travel, 1874 to 1974 and research associate, The Frost Centre, Trent University

Roberta Buchanan is professor emeritus in English at Memorial University. Anne Hart is the former head of the Memorial University Library's Centre for Newfoundland Studies. Bryan Greene is former head of the Geological Survey of Newfoundland and Labrador.

Nice book

Great book -- a fascinating tale, well told

A superb study of Mina Hubbard, for those who have followed the story of the Hubbard and Wallace expeditions across Labrador in 1903 and 1905. Mina Hubbard's full diary is published here for the first time, and Anne Hart provides a fascinating and meticulously researched biographical study of the explorer's life, both before and after her Labrador journey.
