About Thaneeya I was born in the summer of 1979, and six weeks later experienced my first intercontinental plane ride. I've been hooked on travel ever since. I learned to walk in Saudi Arabia, stayed with a tribal village family in India, visited a civil war refugee camp in Sri Lanka, had my palm read in Nepal, floated on a bamboo raft down a Thai river, picked wild berries in rural Wales, co-founded a Buddhist-inspired eco-retreat center in the south of France, and got married under a basswood tree in Australia. And that's just part of it! The world offers us an amazing variety of experiences - cultures to explore, places to see, differences to appreciate. Art is my way of assimilating and interpreting the world around me. Through art, I process my external experiences, reflect on my inner experiences and merge the two together in a visual union that I share with the world. I truly hope that through my art you will be inspired to create your own art, and/or be encouraged you to share your unique vision with the world in some other creative way!

Currently battling some health issues, during treatment I can color and stop and it helps take my mind off of my treatment. I plan to give some of my pictures to others to make them feel special.

Thaneeya McArdle is AMAZING!! I own all her books and am so happy with everyone she comes out with! Her drawing is the right size and very simple to color! Highly recommend if you are looking for a book to color grab anyone of hers. You won't be sorry!

I own several of Thaneeya McArdle's coloring books, including one called "Dapper Animals". In this new book, Ms. McArdle goes to the other end of the fashion spectrum and gives us "Hippie Animals". While most fall firmly in the category of Hippie, I think a few cross over into the more modern category of Hipsters. In any case, they are cute and are extremely fun to color. It's time to pull out your psychedelic colors and make a groovy rainbow out of their outfits. There are love beads, bell bottoms, and granny glasses. The peace symbols and the flower headbands remind me of my older sisters during the hippie period. The designs are detailed with lots of fun doodles to color. The eyes on most of the animals has been done in a shaded grayscale. It makes for a very different eye that what I usually do but it is an unusual and nice change. The back of the page has quotes by famous individuals and unknowns that mostly deal with peace and love (the hippie mantra). I really like that a number of them are quotes from songs. It appears that the publisher has changed from color print on these back pages back to light gray print. I prefer that as sometimes the color could show through to the front of the page depending on which medium I work with. Once again, I love the designs in this book but I am less pleased with the way that the publisher is printing 8 of the designs in less than full size. They have included a thumbnail color sample, some sample colors used in their design for inspiration and a few words to talk about the colors. It takes up the bottom 2.5 inches of the page. This information could be printed on a separate page or on the actual color sample page rather than on the coloring page. In this book, it makes less of a difference than in other books. The designs can still be colored as there aren't tiny elements but I would much rather color a full page designs. As the designs are not difficult to color, I won't detract any stars from my review. This is what I found while coloring in this book and testing the paper with my coloring medium. 32 Cute and detailed designed Animals in Hippie Fashions 24 Full Size and 8 Medium Size Printed one side of the page back of page has soft gray design, journal lines and a quote appropriate to the subject of the coloring book. Paper is medium weight, white, slightly rough and perforated. Glue Binding. Designs stop well before the perforations. Alcohol-based markers bleed through the page quickly. Water-based markers bleed through the page in heavy spots. Gel pens and India ink pens can spot through to the back of the page. Colored pencils work well with the paper. Both oil and wax based pencils provide good color, layer, and blend well. Hard lead pencils can dent through the page. I use a blotter page of card stock or heavyweight paper (two sheets) to keep seeping ink and dents from marring the pages below. I recommend using a blotter or that you remove pages before coloring.

Love this coloring book, this is the first one I have purchased and I love it. It has detailed directions and suggestions for mixing and shading with pencils and markers, I found this really helpful. I love the pictures as well. Would definitely purchase again.

Love her books. They have completed pics of the pics to color. If I don't want to think about colors to use I can recreate hers which makes me really relax not out of boredom or I can do my own colors which now I have to think which I don't want to always do and can't relax. Would reeallyly recommend her books. Keep making your books this way Thaneeya

These hippie animals are a hoot. Fun to color in wild colors, especially glitter and metallic gel pins, they do show shadows on reverse side. Thaneeye McArdle is the best for just fun relaxation. Have almost all her books.

I have bought every book by this artist and I can't wait until she comes out with more. I love her designs and all of the detail she puts into the drawings. If you are looking for super cute/girly coloring books I would for sure recommend any of her books to you. This book had some of the cutest animal images that I have seen in awhile.

I had to have this coloring book for my collection when I saw the cover, and I haven't been disappointed! I have about 35 Creative Haven coloring books and I just love them.
