The Magic Tree House transports Jack and Annie to the freezing Arctic. There, they must solve the final riddle to become master librarians. But it's not going to be easy--especially when they have cracking ice, a seal hunter, and a prodigious polar bear to deal with. Will they be able to solve the riddle before they get iced themselves?

s have an astonishing track record for inspiring readers Highly acclaimed by parents, teachers, and especially kids, these books have an astonishing track record for inspiring readers Highly acclaimed by parents, teachers, and especially kids, these books have an astonishing track record for inspiring readers. With their strong characters, imaginative plots, and just the right dose of history or science, it's no wonder kids love Magic Tree House books.

These books are a cry of relief from the five minute books we usually read with our son and they have already taught him so much about science, nature, and particularly history. Jack and Annie, the lead characters in the series, travel through time and meet with prominent historical figures such as Equipment Queens, take a trip to the moon, spend a day with Abraham Lincoln, land in camp with General George Washington as he is ready to cross the Delaware, and even convince a young Mozart to continue his pursuit in music. They are well written books that peak interest in subjects young kids may not yet have access to and have accompanying research guides that give detailed back stories and historical guides to the subjects covered in the novels. Although the intended audience of the series seem to be for children around 8 - 10, our five year old becomes engulfed in the stories every single evening, always looking forward to what adventure Jack and Annie are heading for next. also tend to have a wider availability of the series than book stores like Barnes and Nobel at prices up to half the cost of the same.

My daughter loves these books! She has been reading these books since she started second grade. They are easy to read and still have pictures that keep them interested in the books. The author does a great job of describing everything so my daughter can understand what is going on in the story. Normally these books go for $5 or more a piece, so this is the cheapest I have found so far. Wonderful purchase!! Totally worth it!!

My son loves this series - good book!

My seven year old son loves EVERY SINGLE one of the Magic Tree House books. He is determined to own/read all of them.

Very good chapter book for my kindergartener. Kept her attention and corresponded to a poplar bear unit we studied. Good story line. Integrated facts with a fun adventure. My kids remembered all the fact finds from the book at the end.

I never knew what these books were until my daughter came home one day and begged and pleaded for me to buy them for her. she stated that her teacher have theses books in her class and since she first read it, she simply can't put them down,lol! i am really enjoying the fact that she has found an intrest in something that can keep her occupied besides the internet. i will be buying more of these books soon.

Read the magic tree house series when i was small. Decided to gift my nephew a couple books including this one for his collection. Its the same as when i read it

The entire Treehouse Series is a great set of "chapter books" to move children beyond picture books and teach them the continuity of chapter / longer book reading. I read a chapter or two to my grandson each evening, and he has total recall of where we stopped the night before.
