A very detailed and informative book to whet your appetite about Long Island, in more ways than one!! I have lived on Long Island all of my now 70 years and , as I like to say, "long story short", 30 years ago, finally realized what a great and truly unique 125 mile long ocean's jewel it is!! I actually packed my car, for an hour's drive EAST to stay several nites, bicycle and kayak any place I could find!! Sorry, I will not tell you my secret "stay" places, you'll find your own, but this book tells you what to see, where to go, and why you should. Further more, many great places to eat, many of moderate cost, for the most part and many of them among my favorites!! All of New England charm is right here, BUT better beaches, wineries, eateries and roads to get there!! Avoid the "Glitter Ghetto" of the South Fork in summer, too crowded, too "gentrified", too full of "faux" people, too full of itself.....not the place of my youth at Hot Dog beach and the "OTI" and Mad Hatter!! Do yourself and family a favor, get to know this great place, VACATION here, EXPLORE here, LIVE here!! I STILL DO!! KEN

This book was very helpful when planning our recent trip to the North Fork of Long Island. It went beyond the usual sights to see, and told you the stories behind them. Very good book!

This appeared to be the best Long Island guide available -- based on reviews and look at the pages available. As a short term visitor I found it difficult to locate particular areas and what was contiguous. More detailed maps of the various areas (in addition to the one map of Long Island that highlights particular sights and places to go numbered in non-geographical order) would have been very helpful to my planning my trip. An index would have helped me navigate as well. What's there is good. We visited Sagamore Hill in Oyster Bay and Port Jefferson and found info there, including restaurants helpful. When we were looking to travel further out towards what I think is called the North Fork (I was looking for barns to photograph) other than the Wine Tour area -- which I discovered after I came back -- was not helpful. We found a great restaurant by asking locals while out there.

Please!! There must be some mistake!! I did not order this item. Please cancel. Thanks..
