Pharm Phlash Cards!: Pharmacology Flash Cards

Synopsis

A classroom-developed, student-tested system that increases pharmacology test scores—decreases and prevents medication errors in the clinical setting—improves NCLEX pharmacology scores—and expands understanding of pharmacological agents! The 2nd Edition of these test-yourself review cards cover critical clinical information for nearly 400 of the top generic medications. And, you can count on them for accuracy, because each card is based on content from Davis's Drug Guide for Nurses. "These cards not only give you the most important aspects of each med, but also provide you with nursing tips. These cards are great for new nursing students!" • Lauren Witkowsky, Student at Cape May Technical School Organized into GI, Endocrine, Urologic, Immune, Musculoskeletal, CNS, Cardiovascular, Respiratory, Sensory and an Index in back. They are also grouped by color. You can pull out the tab to the system which lists each drug and which card number to pull out (remember there are 2 sides! You can reorganize them by number, color and system. Pretty neat and quick reference. I am going to list what is on the actual card. This way it will help you decide whether to purchase or not. Example: Pulled out tab for Immune, looked up Rifampin (TB treatment), ok card 85 (Antitubercular Anti-infectives), on that card is Rifampin, Isoniazid, Ethambutol, and Pyrazinamide and their trade names. Flip card over and lists: Therapeutic/Pharmacologic Class:

Antitubercular/bacteriostatic;bacteriocidal anti-infectives Indication: First-line therapy of active TB; in combination with other agents. Multidrug regimen prevents resistance. Preventive treatment (exposed to active TB) may be accomplished with monotherapy. Action: Inhibits mycobacterial cell wall synthesis and interferes with metabolism; one first-line drug interferes with RNA transcription. Bactericidal/bacteriostatic action. Adverse Reactions/Side Effects: EENT: The drug that begins with "e" causes eye problems (optic neuropathy). Does not specify which S/E for which drug. Keep in Mind section of card: Be aware that urine may change color ("r" drug = red). This was on my final! Except the questions was what should the nurse tell the client about Rifampin, the answer was turns urine orange was correct choice on my final!! Make The Connection: Monitor CBC with differential, LFT and uric acid levels. Therapy will continue until 2 sputum samples for AFB are negative. etc..... I passed NURE 132, 2 more semesters! Good Luck To You!!

It has nearly ever med i need for clinicals in nursing school! Sturdy, easy to read cards with in depth drug action/class/contraindications ect difficult to find the card number. Not enough space to look and the box easily ripped Passed all the exams and she is working and I am done paying tuition so yes, I am happy.

These cards did nothing for me. They combined drugs that were similar and I didnt need to learn those drugs. The drugs I needed were not included so this purchase was pointless. I didnt receive the same amount I paid for.

This has helped me so well in my first semester of nursing! Some of the required drugs are missing but this is much easier and faster than making flash cards on your own!

Medications that were there had a lot of information about them. I am a first year nursing student and there are already 50 medications that I had to learn that were not even in here. If you need basic drugs I guess this is okay, but a lot of important ones are not in this set.
