Donkeys On My Doorstep: Hoofing It In The Mallorcan Hills

Synopsis

Brimming with humorous and lovable characters, this memoir, Nicholas's fourth, is a charming take on the simple and rewarding life of rural Mallorca. The dream is near completion. Anna is loosening the reins on her London PR company to spend more time in Mallorca with her family, cattery, chickens, and goats, and insists their menagerie will only be complete with not one donkey, but two. She attempts almond harvesting in the countryside amid summertime ant and wasp infestations, and attends a traditional wedding and the spectacular Sant Juan horse festival in Menorca. Meanwhile, she befriends an elderly poet whose love letters to his fiancée during the Spanish Civil War waft into her field, unveiling a poignant story of bravery and sacrifice.

Customer Reviews

"Nicholas' frenetic days spent in London . . . elevate the book from simple escapism to a much more complicated story about the difficulties of balancing a life between two places . . . as intelligent as it is entertaining." —Daily Telegraph
"Endearing, funny." —Real Travel magazine
"[A] leisurely and pleasant light read" —Library Journal's Xpress Reviews

Anna Nicholas is a freelance travel writer who writes for the Majorca Daily Bulletin; contributes to the in-flight magazines of Air New Zealand, easyJet, and Virgin airlines; writes a regular blog for the Telegraph; and has written for Financial Times, the Independent, London Evening Standard, and Tatler.

This is a great series. Author is has good perspective of life & what is important....& what is not.

Like the two books before, easy reading, fun, funny. makes one want to go to the Baleares and live there for a wile.
