Clark Spencer Larsen heads the Department of Anthropology at Ohio State University, Columbus. A native of Nebraska, he received his B.A. from Kansas State University and M.A. and Ph.D. from the University of Michigan. Clark's research is in bioarchaeology, skeletal biology, and paleoanthropology. He has worked in North America, Europe, and Asia. He has taught at the University of Massachusetts, Northern Illinois University, Purdue University, and the University of North Carolina. Since 2001, he has been a member of the faculty at Ohio State, where he is a Distinguished Professor of Social and Behavioral Sciences. He teaches introductory physical anthropology, osteology, bioarchaeology, and paleoanthropology. Clark has served as president of the American Associations of Physical Anthropologists and as editor-in-chief of the American Journal of Physical Anthropology. In addition to Our Origins, he has authored or edited 25 books and monographs, including Bioarchaeology; Interpreting Behavior from the Human Skeleton, Skeletons in Our Closet, Advances in Dental Anthropology; and A Companion to Biological Anthropology.

This book was very useful and helpful for me in completing and passing my class this summer semester in Introduction to Physical Anthropology.

easy to read, understand, making it easy to remember the concepts....excellently written book.

Just what I needed for my anthropology class

Good book for your biological anthropology interests/classes.

This textbook is really informative!! I love all the illustrations, they make the text much easy to understand!

The packaging was perfectly fine no physical damage to the packaging I received the book in but the book was totally damaged the book was completely separated from the cover page and all the pages are coming apart from the binding of the book this is probably the worst book I have ever received from .

Usefull
